

FAVORS THE FIGHT

Governor Charley Culberson, of Texas,
Takes a Bold Stand

NOT THE CORBETT MILL, HOWEVER

This Is the Fight in Behalf of the Money of the People.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS HARD AT WORK

The Campaign Is On—An Array of Strong
Speakers Who Are Working for Silver.
The Situation in the Lone Star State.

Austin, Tex., August 25.—(Special Correspondence.)—The silver fight in the Lone Star State is on. The battle has commenced and from this time on the war will wax warm. The voices of the supporters of bimetallism were heard in the different sections of the state the past week and the reports are to the effect that the people

And be it said to the credit of both sides that they have in Tennessee through Nathan that here in Texas there is little of demagoguery in these discussions. The advocates of silver have met in joint discussion the pleaders for the single gold standard idea and it has so far been a discussion of the merits of the issue and but little of the pleading to the prejudice and passion has been resorted to.

Texas Is All Right.
Texas is all right. By this is meant that the Lone Star State will be found in the free silver column at the proper time and the Texas delegation will go to the national democratic convention as a unit for silver restoration. The late democratic convention at Fort Worth expressed the intention of the democrats of Texas that convention said that no compromise was asked for, it was not wanted. As Attorney General M. M. Crane expressed it: "Let it be war to the knife, the knife to the hilt and may the fittest survive." This expression was cheered to the echo and clearly showed the feeling of the meeting.

Culberson Favors This Fight.

It was late into the night at the Forth Worth convention when Governor Culberson finally made his appearance upon the stand. He had been called for repeatedly, but the response came back in every instance that he was at work with the resolution committee, of which he was a member. When the chief executive made his appearance he was met with a storm of applause.

he criticised severely those who had charged that he departed from the last state democratic platform on the financial question and advocated handling without gloves the single gold standard advocates in Texas. Nothing could be gained, he thought by compromise. The single gold element had pleaded for it at the last state democratic convention and no good, he maintained, had emanated from such a coming together. He declared that the fight in Texas was on and the democrats of the Lone Star State—the true democrats who are in favor of restoring silver to the place it occupied prior to 1873—must not lose time pleading with men to remain in the party who are not sympathizers with its principles.

throughout was deafening and congratulations were bestowed upon him as he left the platform.

Good Speakers and Thorough Organi-

The organization will be thorough. Chairman Blake will see to it that each county will be organized as well as every precinct.

The country press is favorable to free silver and there are but few weekly papers in the state but that are for silver. The silver advocates will be ready, and the contest will be one probably never before witnessed in the state. With men like Bailey, Coon Potter, Jesse Morrell, Ed Hill, Captain Jim Woods, Colonel Ike Standifer, Allison Mayfield, Colonel Dick Wynne, Bryan T. Barry, Judge

Sam Hunter, Colonel W. L. McGaughey, ex-Senator Jim Swayne, Senator W. J. Bailey, Thorp Andrews, United States Senator Horace Chilton, Judge Jack Duncan, T. N. Jones, Judge B. B. Beard, ex-Governor

James S. Hogg, A. G. McIlwaine, J. Gordon Russell, Colonel J. G. Kearby, Senator Bob Stafford, Senator Ed Agnew, Alvin Owsley, Jake Hodges, Judge Don Bliss.

Judge John H. Stephens, John H. Traylor, Congressmen Pendleton, Abbott, Hutcheson, Culberson, Sayers, Cockrell, Yoakum, Judge Bryan Callahan of San Antonio, Monte I. Moore of Milam, Ham Cressett and

J. K. Humpass of Kaufman, Judge E. W. Terhune, Judge R. E. Brooke, Senator J. S. Sherrill, Sam Upshaw, Cullen F. Thomas, Bob Henry, Jake Harrison, Colonel Sam

Lanham, ex-Senator Baldwin, besides the heads of the different state departments on the stump for free silver, the cause is sure to win in Texas.

The night will be won, and hands down at that. _____ A. G. D.
LOOKING AT VALKYRIE.
 _____

New Yorkers Visit Erie Dock To See
the English Yacht.
New York, August 25.—Erie basin dry dock proved a new Sunday resort for New Yorkers and Brooklynites today, with the

The hull of the Valkyrja was partly hidden from view by screens of canvas hung over her sides to protect her new paint from the blistering heat of the sun. For the first time since she was placed in the basin her back was clean and fresh.

She looked quite prepared for being taken out of the dock as she will be tomorrow morning, and when she will be towed to the Hook, her sails went on the way and then given her first sail in racing trim in American waters.

Judge Willson Says Females Have Rights.
Little Rock, Ark. August 25.—Judge Will-

Wilson yesterday dismissed the prosecution against Mrs. Noe, who was arrested last Thursday for appearing on the streets in bloomers. In delivering his opinion the "Women have a constitutional and God-given right to ride a bicycle, and they are bound to have some comfortable and appropriate dress therefor. The case is dis-

Cigarettes Killed Him.
Dexter, Mo., August 25.—Oscar Cunningham

ham, a young man, died last night from the effects of cigarette poisoning. When death came he was smoking a cigarette, and had grown so emaciated from the use of the poison that he had lost all his bed. He awoke at 12 o'clock last night, rolled a cigarette, lighted it, called for a drink of water and expired in an instant. He smoked about one hundred daily.

100

_____

Montgomery, Ala., August 25.—(Special.)
—The following very spicy combination of Birmingham, Ala., August 25.—(Special).—The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company yesterday sold 1,000 tons of their best iron, manufactured at the Alice furnace, in the western part of this city. The orders came from three parties—one for 300 tons, one for 300 tons and one for 400 tons.

old throughout the world, and especially by English and American chemists in all the principal cities. British deposit.
NEWBURY & SONS, 1, King Edward-st. London. FOTTER
AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U.S.A.

Berlin, August 25.—Mislead by the extractions of the American newspaper legal court at Sofia, the agent says. He refused to hear any charges connecting the Ferdinand with the murder of Bulloff, although the counsel presented the charges offered to call witnesses who would swear that the Coburger (Ferdinand) induced them to murder Stambovsky. Throwing off the last

The stockmen pursued them and fired a volley at the fugitives, dropping several of them, including one or two squaws. The pursuit was not continued, the cattlemen believing sufficient punishment had been inflicted. The courier reported that fifteen dead Indians were found after this one-sided battle.

ear. After attack of

Meridian, Miss., August 25.—(Special.)—The first cotton of this season, two bales, was sold in front of the board of trade cotton exchange in this city yesterday morning. The cotton was shipped to Indian merchants by farmers at Livingston, Ala., and Shubuta, Miss., and was bought by A. S. Johnston, a cotton buyer of windown glass manufacturers will be in Cleveland tomorrow to make the Indiana window glass combine. The fifty-four plants of the United States will be included and all will place a stock in pool and establish a general selling agency to handle it. The new association will make an advance of 15 per cent in prices, making it

AN UNPARAMETERIZED ONE-TO-ONE WEEK ONE

Georgia and Alabama—Fair, except showers in northern portion, variable winds.
Eastern Florida—Showers, preceded at night and in the early morning by fair

American chemists in all the principal cities. British depot:
F. NEWBURY & SONS, 1, King Edward-st., London. POTTER
DRUG AND CHEM. CO., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

_____

_____

MACON'S RACES.

Return of Manager Boone from the North and East.
HIGHLY PLEASSED WITH THE OUTLOOK

Fine Stables Booked for the Races—New Buildings To Be Erected in Macon—Other News.

Macon, Ga., August 25.—(Special).—Manager Boone of the new Southern Racing Association, arrived last night from the north and east, where he has been several weeks booking horses for the great ninety days' meet to be held at Central City park, beginning October 1st. He reports highly gratifying success. Among the stables booked are Kendall, W. P. Birch, Bradley, Oliver, Whomps, Daly, McCoy, Kitchen Club, McCafferty, Bob Row, Sam Butler, Scroggin and Mat Conway. Bob Rose's Clifford will start in the big handicap. Horses will begin to arrive about September 10th. The Oakley track alone will hold 200 horses, and other stables will send strings of 50 to 150 horses. The races will be under the supervision of the American turf congress. The following will be the list of officers:

Sam Whitehead, racing secretary; J. J. Burke, steward; Robert E. Mashan and Charles Wheeler, judges; William Fitzpatrick and Pettengill, marshals; W. R. Adams, track secretary; Clemonson of Washington park, handicapper. These are well-known men of the eastern tracks. Manager Boone will go to Atlanta Tuesday for a day, and will return to Macon and remain a week, and then go to Cincinnati and other points west for more horses. He will be in Atlanta Tuesday night, and bring crowds from the exposition. Mr. Boone has a great hustle on him and the people of Macon are giving him every necessary assistance and encouragement. He has asked them for no money, and is bearing all the expense of putting the race track, stables, etc., in good order. The mile course has been placed in first-class condition by Mr. George Oetip, of Delaware.

Mr. Coleman To Build.

It is said that Architect Woodruff has been instructed by the city to draw plans for the erection of a handsome three-story building on the site of her former store on Third street, which was occupied by S. W. Coleman. The building was destroyed by fire several months ago. It is not yet known who will occupy the new building.

It is further said that several handsome stores will be built on the Sparks warehouse property, opposite Mrs. Coleman's new store on Third street, at the corner of Third and Sparks. The building was already commenced to erect a fine two-story building at the lower corner of Sparks and Third streets, and the new building will be built in the rear of Napier Bros., facing on Poplar street.

There is more building going on in Macon than has been for many years. The general business prospect is also better and brighter than it has been since 1880.

The old J. B. Lamar place, latterly known as the Patterson plantation, a few miles beyond East Macon, comprising 3,000 acres, has been sold to the Georgia Southern and Atlantic railway for $25,000 and it will be subdivided into small farms for emigrants from Ohio.

Knights of Pythias Plente.

On August 30th the uniform rank Knights of Pythias will hold a grand convocation with an excursion and picnic to Indian Spring. All the lodges of Knights of Pythias in the city will participate, and will celebrate the uniform rank a great success. The Southern railway will run a special train which leaves Macon at 7:30 a. m. A very cheap rate will be made for only Knights of Pythias but hundreds of others will avail themselves to go to Indian Spring on the 30th. All who do not carry tickets will be asked to make an early dinner at the hotels at the spring.

One of the officers of the uniform rank will be a prize drill by members of the uniform rank for the beautiful gold "Freeman" medals. The celebration on the 30th will consist of many interesting features.

News Notes.

At the end of the first week of the Chess tournament, Mr. Robert M. Howard leads. Mr. Luther Williams is second. There are sixteen players. Mr. Mumford has played six games and has won an even number of games and lost none.

Card's military band gave a delightful concert at Central city last afternoon. There was an immense audience in attendance and the band played very well.

This morning the remains of Mrs. John D. Howard were taken to the funeral home. Mrs. Howard has been married less than a year. She died last evening at the home of her husband, Mr. Howard, from Macon. She was formerly Miss Florence Howard, daughter of Mr. Howard, a very lovely Christian woman, gifted with many rare accomplishments. Her death has shocked the community to a large number of relatives and friends.

The theatrical season of the Academy of Music does not begin until the 1st of September. Of course there are some road shows booked, but it is also true that there are a number of plays which are worth far less than the price of admission. The season will be a very interesting one.

There will be a reunion at the Atlanta exposition of the class of 1894 of the University of Georgia. Judge Marcus Beck, of the plant circuit, is at the head of the movement to bring about the reunion. The class of 1894, of Macon, was a member of the class of '94. Rev. S. L. Morris, pastor of the Methodist church, is at the head of the movement to bring about the reunion. The class of 1894, of Macon, was a member of the class of '94.

Members of the different railway organizations in the city will hold a meeting tomorrow night at the State university. The meeting will be held at the State university. The meeting will be held at the State university.

SUNDAY AT HAMPTON.

Sermon by Rev. F. L. Adams, of Valdosta.

Hampton, Ga., August 25.—(Special).—Rev. F. L. Adams, of Valdosta, Ga., was here today for a large audience at the Christian church of this place this morning. He preached one of his characteristic sermons, both in the forenoon and in the afternoon. Near Hampton is the childhood home of George Washington. He was born there in 1732. He was also pastor of the Christian church here for many years. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor.

He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor.

He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor.

He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor. He was a very successful preacher and a very successful pastor.

A NEW POWER PLANT

Being Erected at Mitchell's Bridge, Near Athens.

ELECTRICITY TO SELL MANUFACTORIES

The Plant Will Soon Be in Operation. Several Mills and the Street Railway Have Contracted for Power.

Athens, Ga., August 25.—(Special).—Athens, while boasting her well merited name as the Classic City, is now going through a great industrial movement. The most striking of the improvements now being made is the construction of the electric power plant at Mitchell's bridge, three miles from the city. It is unique from the fact that it is the first electric power plant to be constructed in Georgia. The plant will supply power to different manufacturing concerns.

This power plant is being constructed by the Athens Street Railway Company, composed of Messrs. W. S. Holman, A. P. Dearing, J. A. Hunnicutt, J. T. Gathers and C. D. Flanagan. It will cost the sum of $80,000 and 887 horse power will be developed.

The scene at Mitchell's bridge every day in the week now is one of great activity. Forty hands are at work constructing a large race to convey the water of Middle river to the plant at the old mill site. The race will be forty feet wide and will carry almost the entire river to the wheels.

When the race is completed a dam over four hundred feet wide and twenty feet high will be built across the river. The machinery which has been ordered is of the very finest make, having been purchased from the best of European power house will be built and the machinery located there as soon as the other parts of the plant have been completed.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The first use to which the new plant will be put will be to furnish power for the street railway system. Then the power will be rented out at a reasonable figure to different small manufacturing concerns.

Three hundred horse power has been sold to the Electric Cotton Mill Company, a ten thousand dollar spindle mill to be built on the site of the old cotton mill. The new mill will be completed within four months.

The people here are very much interested in this work as it promises to a large extent to eliminate the question of power in the city. The power will be carried by wires to different plants, will be easily utilized and will be sold at a very low price.

Mitchell's bridge is a most beautiful place. It is the famous picnic ground of Clarke county. All university men hold it in reverence as the spot where a happy hour has been spent. It will lose none of its charms by this improvement.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

The work will be pushed forward rapidly and will be completed within about three months.

A NEW SCHOOL

Which Has Been Added to the List of Georgia's Institutions.

THIS ONE IS LOCATED AT GRIFFIN

And Its Founder Claims for It New Methods—The Plan of the Alabama University.

Griffin, Ga., August 25.—(Special).—With in the last ten years Griffin's reputation as a center of learning was without dispute, and from the early years of the 50s it was never without an institution devoted to higher education until the summer of 1889, when Rev. C. V. Waugh closed the doors of the old Griffin female college forever. This institution was founded about the year 1850 by Professor Morrow, who in a few years was succeeded by Professor A. B. Niles, who was at the head of it until his death in 1882. After his guiding hand released the little school, it had several masters, but none were able to pilot her through the breakers of adversity, and after the session of 1888-89 this college, whose graduates are scattered from Virginia to Texas, became a thing of the past.

There were beside this one, two other institutions, both antedating it and both of which were destined to do the first during the war and the other in the summer of 1873. Marshall college was founded in 1852 and was burned twenty-one years later, while under the principality of Rev. Caleb Dowse.

The Synodical college, which was the first of Griffin's schools devoted to higher education, was founded in 1852. About a quarter of a century later the building which is to be used for the New Alabama university was erected on almost the identical spot where the old one stood.

Large building stood. There today, amid those classic oaks which in years gone by cast their shadows upon a house devoted to the study of the liberal arts, a new university that will in years to come, so it is hoped, be the cause of this beautiful little city resuming the place she held so long ago as one of the foremost educational centers of the state. From this beginning our citizens hope will come great things in this direction.

A New Departure.

The establishment of a normal university on the plan of the Alabama university at Griffin is a new departure, for the south at least. It is a new college upon this plan have been in successful operation in the north during the past forty years, but up to the present time nothing of the kind has been projected here. This school must not be confounded with the old one, which was solely for the training of teachers, and hence called normal. The aim and scope of the new university is quite different. The name "normal," as applied to it, refers to the methods of instruction taught in the various departments of the college. It does not mean that the school is designed for the training of teachers, but that it will in years to come, so it is hoped, be the cause of this beautiful little city resuming the place she held so long ago as one of the foremost educational centers of the state. From this beginning our citizens hope will come great things in this direction.

The History of the Enterprise.

As long ago as ten or twelve years, when the president of the new institution first came to Europe, he had in his mind a plan to build a new university in the south. He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

He had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one, and he had already begun a careful study of the history of the old one.

ROME WANTS IT.

Masons Zealously Working To Secure The Home

THAT IS TO BE BUILT BY THE ORDER

Of History of Masonry in North Georgia—How Degrade People Were Provided For After the War.

Rome, Ga., August 25.—(Special).—The article published in The Constitution the other day concerning the efforts of the local lodge to secure the projected Masonic home has attracted widespread attention. Judge Max Meyerhardt, the editor and publisher of the Atlanta Herald, is an enthusiastic Mason and he has been zealously advocating the building of the home and its location in Rome for some time.

It is proposed to appropriate a sum sufficient to build and fit up the home, which is to be a comfortable asylum for those who have grown old and gray in the craft and who are unable to support themselves, as well as for the widows of Masons who are in reduced circumstances. It is intended to make of the home a great charity and a monument to Masonry throughout the entire state.

Hon. John S. Davidson, the lamented grand master, labored long and earnestly for it and now that his successor, Hon. P. Shum, has taken up the work, the task has become one of sacred import to all true Masons in every portion of the state.

Some Hints of History.

The history of Masonry in Rome reads almost like a romance in some of its strange details.

The first lodge, the old Cherokee, was organized in 1823, and its first grand master, George Ramsey, now away up in the eighties, was its first worshipful master.

So sparsely settled was the country at that time that the lodge was a very lonely man, had to send out his teams, which he did gratis, to all parts of the county to get enough of the craftsmen to complete the organization of the lodge.

Cherokee grew slowly, as there was not so much enthusiasm over the mystic fraternity then as now, and the hard laborer looked on the new order with suspicion.

Nevertheless, some of the best men in Rome became members of Cherokee lodge, and the lodge has since that time been still here to rake up the reminiscences of the old days.

An Impoverished People.

Mr. E. C. Hough is one of these and he talks quite interestingly of the troublous times that followed after the war. The people were impoverished and the Masons were not the wherewith to keep up their lodge.

A happy thought occurred to them. They decided to appeal to their brethren for help and they did so in a circular letter, which they mailed to every lodge in the United States and Canada.

The letter recited the pitiful circumstances of their condition and asked for aid to help them in repairing the ravages of war. The letters went broadcast and the explanation of the matter came in from everywhere.

The Masons of the south and west, still swarting from the effects of the war, and the Masons of Canada, all contributed. Several sent money or checks, others sent provisions, clothing and such other things as came most available.

Such Stuff of Various Sorts Accumulated.

Such stuff of various sorts accumulated on their hands till they sent out word to the people in distress to come and help. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

Mr. Hough was one of the leaders in the work and he was helped. The people came and they were helped.

ONLY EIGHT GAMES

Will Be Played by the Southern Association Clubs.

THE EVANSVILLE CLIMB UP AGAIN

And After Eleven Innings Takes the Game from New Orleans—Other Sunday Games.

Southern Association Standing.

CLUBS. Played. Won. Lost. Per Cent.

Evansville, . . . . . 34 21 13 .618

Nashville, . . . . . 34 21 13 .618

Atlanta, . . . . . 34 21 13 .618

New Orleans, . . . . . 34 21 13 .618

Mobile, . . . . . 34 21 13 .618

Montgomery, . . . . . 34 21 13 .618

National League Standing.

CLUBS. Played. Won. Lost. Per Cent.

Baltimore, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Cleveland, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Pittsburgh, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Boston, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Philadelphia, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Brooklyn, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Cincinnati, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Chicago, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

New York, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Washington, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

St. Louis, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Louisville, . . . . . 37 22 15 .595

Eight more games of ball and the Southern Association season for 1895 will be at an end.

Two more games with Montgomery today and tomorrow.

Three games with Mobile.

And then three games with New Orleans, and the ball park will be closed for the rest of the year.

The race now is extremely close and interesting and every game counts with Atlanta, Evansville and Nashville.

The loss of a game by either of the teams may mean the loss of the pennant for 1895, while the winning increases the chances of each of the clubs for the grand round up next week.

Manager Knowles is more than anxious to land the flag in Atlanta and is doing everything he can to pull in every game. Every member of the team is now thoroughly enthused and each one is working as though the result depended upon him alone. The team is pulling well together, and there has rarely been seen on the Atlanta grounds anything like the playing the men are now putting up. They all go to every game with a dash and pull that indicates a determination to win out, and unless some unforeseen accident happens the team is mighty apt to hold its own the rest of the season.

The Evansville team and the Nashville team are working just as hard for the advantage they have, and like the Atlanta team, they are pulling well together. The Evansville team is pulling well together, and there has rarely been seen on the Atlanta grounds anything like the playing the men are now putting up. They all go to every game with a dash and pull that indicates a determination to win out, and unless some unforeseen accident happens the team is mighty apt to hold its own the rest of the season.

Evansville had a game yesterday with New Orleans and it took eleven innings to settle the fight. The Indianapolis won out last, however, and the win advances them over three points in the standing.

The game this afternoon will be called at 4 o'clock and three teams will be in it for all that can be had out of it. Manager Knowles will present Callahan for his boxman, while Bailey, who is now badly crippled in the right hand, will be in for the visitors.

McFarland, the funny umpire, will officiate, and it will be worth the price of admission to hear him.

The two teams will line up this way:

Atlanta. Position. Montgomery.

Callahan, . . . . . P. . . . . Bailey

Wilson, . . . . . C. . . . . Wilson

Knowles, . . . . . 1B. . . . . Pabst

McDade, . . . . . 2B. . . . . Morris

Smith, . . . . . 3B. . . . . Kehoe

Wiley, . . . . . Shortstop. . . . . Peoples

Goodenough, . . . . . Center Field. . . . . Armour

Hornung, . . . . . Right Field. . . . . Sparks

WHAT'S HE SAY?

McFarland, the New Empire, Talks Funny.

"Toot!" said McFarland.

The man who hadn't been to the baseball park for two seasons turned to a "crank" at his side and said:

"What did he say?"

"Two out," returned the crank, and cranked his head to watch Knowles slide to first.

"Turoot!" yelled the umpire.

The newcomer stretched his head.

"Well, he is the greatest I have ever seen," he said.

McFarland, the man who said "toot" at the top of this article, is the new umpire of the Southern League in these parts. He is like a collector man, and is said to be a collector man, and is said to be a collector man.

McFarland works his face to get the effect of the prolonged "toot" may give the ghost of an idea. Lifting his right foot and jumping into the air with his left he extends his neck and while in mid-air takes an enormous respiration. Landing fairly on his feet, he comes down with a crash, and the crowd follows him with a deep breath. The next words that he utters show that he has succeeded.

"Toot four!" he says.

A degression is here necessary to explain the above. It means "ball two," but no letters and no numbers can convey an adequate conception of the strange, the grotesque and the ridiculous of the sound. Nor can language describe the effect of the prolonged "toot" may give the ghost of an idea. Lifting his right foot and jumping into the air with his left he extends his neck and while in mid-air takes an enormous respiration. Landing fairly on his feet, he comes down with a crash, and the crowd follows him with a deep breath. The next words that he utters show that he has succeeded.

A SMALL DOG . . . .

Established 1870.

Our patrons have the benefit of our superior skill and long experience in this specialty. Hawkes' glasses, from the beginning, have had the most extensive and increasing sale from year to year until they are now sold from ocean to ocean.

These Glasses are Never Faded

Spectacles Repaired and Made as Good as New.

A. K. HAWKES Manufacturing Optician, 12 Whitehall St.

Phone 272.

Sometimes turns you from your course. So the loud noise made by unreliable clothing dealers might deter you from a fixed purpose to come to us for your next purchase in the clothing line. What we want to say is, shun these vendors of shoddy and come to us where thousands have been before you and gone away satisfied. We never give less than a dollar's worth for a dollar and often more. Our clothes are proper and a urprizes in keeping with the depressed condition of the money market.

26 WHITEHALL ST.

SLICED HIS BROTHER

DELIVERED TO DIAZ

The invitation of the Cotton States and International Exposition Given.

DR. SPALDING'S ABLE SPEECH

President Diaz Much Impressed with the Idea of the Enterprise.

HIS WIFE AND THE CABINET MAY COME

But the Law of His Country Prevents Him from Leaving His Boundaries—Preparations for Exhibits.

Mexico is coming. President Diaz has been seen. He will urge all his people to attend the exposition.

The committee appointed from the exposition board to visit Mexico for the purpose of extending personally an invitation to the president has accomplished its mission, and it will be prolific of good results.

President Diaz was impressed with the address of invitation delivered by Dr. R. D. Spaulding and he interrupted the speech to announce that he has already fallen in line with the committee, but the following special, delayed a day because of down stage, tells the story of the interview with President Diaz:

City of Mexico, Mex., August 25.—(Special.)—The committee arrived in the City of Mexico on Thursday morning and immediately called upon Mr. R. C. Butler, who has charge of affairs of the American legation during the absence of Minister Ransom, and through the committee called upon the president at the national palace on yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

They were introduced by Mr. Butler, and after a most cordial reception by the president, Dr. R. D. Spaulding, the chairman, delivered the written invitation of the Cotton States and International Exposition Company, and followed it with a most forcible and pleasing address, urging its acceptance.

He stated that this exposition was organized for the purpose of business, that it was desired that Mexico and the Central and South American countries make an exhibit of their products and mineral resources, and that their people should visit the exposition in order to see the exhibition made by the United States, and in this way become better acquainted with each other, with a view of encouraging commerce and trade between the two countries. He laid particular stress upon the fact that this was true of the United States and Mexico, they being sister republics, joined together by three great railroad systems and each producing what the other must have.

The course of his remarks he was interrupted by the president, who said: "I have fallen in love with you already."

Upon Dr. Spaulding's conclusion, President Diaz expressed his appreciation of the invitation from the exposition and the manner of its delivery by so large and distinguished ability, and that he was deeply impressed by the truth of the arguments so ably presented by the chairman.

He said that it would be a great pleasure to him, personally, to be able to visit Atlanta, especially at a time when he would have the opportunity of meeting President Cleveland. But he was unable to do so, as he was prohibited from leaving Mexico during his term of office. He said that he was in full sympathy with the exposition because it was a great, progressive movement, that while he could not attend, he thought it likely that Mrs. Diaz and members of the cabinet would attend, and that he would like for all his people to go. He said it would be a great school upon the lines of progress. After the interview with the president, the committee was invited to call upon Senator Fernandez, who assured them that Mexico would have a creditable exhibit of her products and resources at the exposition, and that he would like for all his people to go. He said it would be a great school upon the lines of progress. After the interview with the president, the committee was invited to call upon Senator Fernandez, who assured them that Mexico would have a creditable exhibit of her products and resources at the exposition, and that he would like for all his people to go.

THE WOMAN'S BOARD

Has Secured Transportation Over the Routes Named.

The woman's board held their weekly meeting yesterday, at which the entire board was present. Mrs. Thompson presided.

Soon after the board was called to order Mrs. William Felton offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

"Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathy and sincere condolence of the board of women exhibitors are hereby extended to Mrs. William L. Peel in the sad bereavement which has come to her home in the death of her lovely son, Master Lawson Peel, who departed this life on yesterday, August 23d, at the family residence in this city. Owing to the enforced absence of Mrs. Peel from the exposition, her friends and colleagues are greatly intensified by the knowledge of the terrible shock which she must meet when the news of this bereavement is broken to her upon her arrival in New York."

"Resolved further, That these resolutions be placed on the minutes of this meeting and sent to Mrs. Peel as a token of the affection and interest felt by every member of this board in the grief and deep bereavement of their esteemed and honored colleague and co-worker."

A special meeting of the board of women managers is called for Monday morning, to select and make the final arrangements for the badges for the department.

Professor Davis, the singing professor in the public schools of this city, appeared before the board yesterday in reference to the chorus of the children, which he has in preparation for the opening of the exposition. A committee composed of Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Angier and Miss Sargent, was appointed to arrange with Professor Davis in regard to the arrangement of the chorus. Professor Davis says it will be one of the strongest choruses that has ever been heard in Atlanta. He can get as many as a thousand voices, and he will be a credit to the singing school. They will all be children from the public schools.

The following committee was appointed by Mrs. Thompson, president, to make all arrangements for entertaining the exposition for the opening day: Mrs. Felton, chairman; Mrs. Knowles, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Keely and Mrs. Cox.

An important discussion was held at the meeting yesterday as to the advisability of changing the women's building. Nearly one man on the board was in favor of the change if the desired sum could be raised.

The two buildings as they now are will be crowded and a number of very important and interesting exhibits will have to be left out unless the annex is made larger. There are a large number of exhibits which while of great importance would have added greatly to the completeness of the woman's department displays. The ladies have fully enough space asked for to fill another building nearly as large as the annex.

To show how the woman's department has grown out of the expectations of the exposition managers, they were given two thousand feet in the state building in connection with the annex. This was at that time thought to be enough, but it is found that a thousand more could be utilized.

The subject is to be fully discussed at the special meeting Monday and something definite done. The ladies are all in favor of the annex as a display as possible, and hope to be able to raise a sufficient sum to enlarge the annex several hundred feet.

Mrs. Anna B. Green was introduced to the board yesterday and made a talk on the work of the colonial committee of Virginia. Mrs. A. B. Steele, the very popular secretary of the board of women managers, is slightly ill at her home. She is missed by her many friends and colleagues.

Miss Nellie McLendon acted as secretary of the board in the absence of Mrs. Steele. They returned to Atlanta yesterday.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 25.—(Special.)—The painting of Mr. Lloyd Branson, of Knoxville, for the Atlanta exposition, was shipped yesterday by the Georgia road to Atlanta yesterday. For four days the painting "After the Bath" has been on exhibition here and is said to be the finest painting ever exhibited here.

MODEL FIRE HOUSE

Is the Home of Cap Joyner's Boys at the Exposition.

The fire headquarters at the exposition grounds is a model and complete fire department.

While it is to be a regular active department, ready at all times for work, it is also a model of the kind and style of the fire department in the city. There are to be enough and representatives on the grounds.

Chief Joyner accomplished a great feat when he had built the pretty building the department is now occupying. All the apparatus is the newest and of the latest models and designs. The hose wagons, the engines, the chemical and the hook and ladder are all new and look as bright as they were leaving the factory.

Besides the regular department, there are to be on exhibit two engines and a hose wagon that are to be used in case of necessity. Work has begun on the alarm boxes.

The putting up of the wires was commenced last week, and is nearly finished. The alarm system is to be more extensive, comparatively, at the exposition grounds than in the city. There are to be sixteen alarm boxes stationed, over the grounds. This will put them in close proximity and so insure a quick connection with the city.

"I will probably send out another company this week," said Cap Joyner, "and I think it will be sufficient force for the exposition opens."

"Few people would think so," continued Cap, speaking about the exposition department, "but the pressure at the exposition grounds is equivalent to the pressure here in the city. Where the old race track used to be, by actual measurement, it is 100 feet lower than it is where the old artesian well used to be. There is hardly any use for an engine out there, as the flow of the water is just as strong with its natural pressure as it is in the city here with full steam pressure."

All there will be thirty-two men in charge of the department when the exposition opens. There will be sixteen at the exposition grounds and the other sixteen will go on as soon as the exposition opens.

There will be hundreds of firemen in the city during the exposition, and the department that they will see at the grounds will excel in the way of a fire department exhibit.

Besides the regular house department there will be a branch department in the transportation building. There will be a hose wagon and probably an engine in the building.

Mr. Jake Emmel, the popular foreman of No. 1, will be the exposition "chief." He has been connected with the department for a number of years and is one of the veteran firemen of the city.

Cap Joyner in speaking about the exposition and the northern patronage said: "The people had just as well prepare for the people are coming. Last year while I was at Seneca Falls seeing about the wagons to be used at the exposition, there was a club formed among the employees of the exposition, their object being to save a little each week of their salary to come to the exposition. Now, that's a sample of the way they are coming, and the people had better prepare to take care of them. I found that everywhere I went up there somebody out of the town or city was coming to the exposition."

WILL MEET THIS MORNING.

The Police Committee and the Committee from the Exposition Board.

The question of retail liquor licenses to the Oriental hotel and other hotels which are soon to be opened in the city, will be considered by the police committee this morning in the city hall.

A special committee from the board of directors of the exposition company will appear before the committee and ask to be heard on the matter. There will be present, too, quite a number of citizens who are opposed to the granting of the license, and the meeting will in all probability be quite an interesting one.

The conference between the two committees was fixed for Saturday morning and two members of the police committee were present, while all of the members of the exposition committee were on hand. Several gentlemen who were opposed to the license were present, too, to be heard, but Mr. Broyles, of the police committee, was found to be out of the city, and the meeting was postponed by general consent until this morning when the two committees will come together again and dispose of the matter finally in the way of a report to the general council.

WILL MEET TUESDAY NIGHT.

The City Executive Committee Will Convene in Obedience to a Call.

The city executive committee will convene in the council chamber Tuesday night. Chairman Ellis's call for the meeting has been published for three or four days past and has caused quite a discussion among those who take an interest in politics, and the indications are that the meeting tomorrow night will be one of the most interesting that has occurred in years.

No one cares to deny a prediction of the members of the committee, but it seems to be a general impression that an early action of some kind will be ordered.

"AFTER THE BATH."

A Knoxville Artist To Exhibit at the Exposition.

Lloyd Branson and S. T. Williams, of Knoxville, Tenn., are registered at the Kimball.

Both gentlemen are interested in exposition work. Mr. Branson has brought with him his celebrated painting, "After the Bath," which will be placed on display in the fine arts building. This is a finished work in all features and will rank with the greatest productions of the decade.

FEEDING THE DEAD

The Chinese of Atlanta Gather Around Graves in Westview,

WHERE SEVERAL CELESTIALS REST

And Observe a Religious Custom Prevalent Among Them at Home—An Interesting and Unique Scene.

Yesterday was the day made sacred by the feasts of souls among Chinese all over the world, and was observed with all due ceremony in every clime where there is a subject of the Celestial empire.

In China it is observed with great pomp and ceremony, especially among the nobility, where the day is given over to the feast and thousands flock to the various cemeteries and to the graves of the dead.

Notwithstanding the fact that the contingent of the Celestial empire in Atlanta is quite large, those who observed the day numbered just nine, but they made up in their intentness in the sacred observance for a larger attendance.

The day is supposed to be one of mourning, one on which all Chinese repair to the various burial grounds of their departed countrymen and prostrate themselves before the graves and with many ceremonies test their great grief for their departure from this mundane existence to a residence in another and a better world.

The observance of the ceremonies yesterday was held at Westview at 1 o'clock, and by that time there was collected a crowd of curious sightseers who had been attracted by the announcement of the ceremonies.

The crowd had swelled to more than a hundred by the time two carriages, followed by a cab, wended their way slowly over the hill in the distance and drew near the gates of the cemetery.

In the carriages were eight Chinamen, and another brought up the rear guarding the precious viands and whiskey that were to be the offerings to the powers of darkness and the weavers of the destinies of the departed brethren who were interred in the cemetery and for the future happiness they were to be offered as a means of propitiation and an extension of good will.

Followed by the curious throng the carriages drove down the hill, and the exercises began amid the merry antics of the Chinamen in their seeming impression that the whole affair was a huge joke.

The spectators crowded round the celestials, forming a circle that almost hid the principals, who seemed to relish the attention they were creating to such an extent that one Chinaman who spoke excellent English remarked that they were all having a good time.

A peculiar part of the exercises was that the offerings were all set at the foot of the graves and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

READY FOR THE TRIP

Plans for the Forced March of the Capital City Guard Fully Prepared.

GREAT INTEREST IN THE MARCH

Captain Hewitt Has Received Many Letters of Inquiry—How the Trip Will Be Made.

The Capital City Guard is in shape to make the trip to Chattanooga. The boys are waiting patiently for the morning to come when the march will be made from the city limits and on to Tennessee.

The long march to Chattanooga continues to attract attention from an ever-increasing range of territory. During the past week Captain Hewitt has been in receipt of communications from various papers and periodicals from all parts of the country, asking for information concerning the proposed march and the necessary data from which to construct articles descriptive of the expedition.

Among the more prominent journals which have thus manifested an interest in the Guard's unique undertaking are the Army and Navy Journal and The Old Guard, the two most noted military papers in the United States, both published in New York, and The Daily News, of Chattanooga, Tenn., a southern paper, which will publish a copiously illustrated article on the march.

The field and notebooks furnished by the corps of engineers of the United States army have arrived, and the necessary instruments for making the survey of the route have been received. The survey, when completed, will show not only the distance and direction of the route traveled, but all topographical diversities, towns, streams, rivers, and all other points to be traversed.

In fact, it will be a condensed but complete illustrated history of the march. The chief of engineers of the United States army has signified his desire to have a copy of the survey filed in his office, which request will, of course, be granted.

Governor Atkinson has sent the Capital City Guard the great distinction of selecting that company as his personal escort during the exercises and parades, both at Chattanooga and Atlanta.

Negotiations are on foot to secure a photographer to accompany the command on their trip and take views while en route and in camp. If the attempt is successful, these photographs will become very neat and attractive souvenirs of the trip, which will tend to adorn the walls of the Guard's mess room.

While no definite order has as yet been issued by Colonel Chaffier, it is more than probable that the entire company, or at least those companies stationed in Atlanta, will turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

The company will march in the order of a regular army, with the flag in front, followed by the band and the wagon train with its covers of glistering white.

At the foot, on either side of the grave, were placed two small wax candles of red, resembling very much miniature sky rockets, between the candles, and in the center, little bowls filled with boiled rice of glowing whiteness and a bowl of hard-boiled eggs. In the foreground were placed bunches of incense, and in the background of the kind often seen in the sick room.

Three tiny cups of fragrant and beautiful flowers were arranged in a row in front of the grave, and the men of the Celestial empire, who were stationed in the vicinity, would turn out to give Company B a "send off" on the trip and accompany it as far as the gates of the cemetery.

September 10th has been selected as the day and 4 o'clock p. m. as the hour of departure.

The picture appearance will be presented by the company as it marches down Marietta street in its service uniform of grey jeans, slouch hats and leggings.

Each man will have a pack on his back containing their blankets and canteens at their sides, and a belt full of ammunition buckled around each man's waist.

SUNDAY SHAVES

Are Still Being Talked of by the Barbers of the City.

SOME WANT TO OPEN ON SUNDAY

While Others Are Very Much Opposed To It—The Papers Are Now in the Hands of the Police Committee.

The fate of the fellow who forgets his Saturday night shave hangs in the balance. This absent minded individual is watching eagerly the result of the councilman's deliberations regarding the opening of the barber shops on Sunday.

He remembers with horror his experience on Sunday. Saturday he was so busily engaged that the day slipped by and the night, too, before he thought to seek his barber. Sunday morning he woke up with a rugged cluster of hirsute appendages fringing his chin and a bristling stiffness about the upper lip shameful to see. He looked at himself in the mirror, rubbed the palm of his hand across his jaws testily, turned his chin up to view and swore silently that there was no open shop for him that Sunday morning.

He remembered that the barber could be abbreviated. But he pulled a rusty razor from a case hidden away for months and decided to do the work himself. The steel blade began to pull him and there was a gritty, uncomfortable, painful resistance when he drew it across his face. Suddenly there was a slip of the digits, a gasp, a red spot and a "damn" that caused his wife to throw up her hands in horror at such willful destruction of the face. There is a man living next door. Possibly he has a sharp razor. After an hour's tedious work he came through the ordeal with a countenance strongly suggestive of a field of stubble.

It is this man who is now looking eagerly at the trial being held for the opening of the shops on Sunday. He has examined into the affair, but he finds there is grave doubt as to how the question will be finally decided.

This man finds there is strong division on the question, that the white barbers try neighborhood on Driving is Popular. The history of sport has been so popular as this any afternoon in a counte-can see four-in-hands

seem to be just waking up to the beauties of this place, and it is sure to increase in popularity.

The Elberton Star says: "Miss Ruth Cunningham, a beautiful and accomplished society belle of Atlanta, is the guest of Mrs. J. Y. Swift, who is entertaining her sister-testify against Howland in the under case.

Your blood is the cause of that tired, dull feeling. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes red blood and gives renewed vigor.

These figures were first presented at the Casino in New York, and made a distinct hit at the time. The formula is owned by Giles Bradley, and the work of preparing the articles for the press will be under the immediate supervision of that gentleman.

Dr. Couch and Belyeu, who are the most successful operators in the south—1814 Edgewood avenue, next door to the Lyceum theater, Atlanta, Ga.

[illegible]

